AMERICAN ATTRACTIONS.

Comparison Between the Scenic Beauty of Switzerland and Colorado.

Switzerland, "the playground of Europe," is visited annually by over 15,000 American tourists and invalids. Why?

While the Alps have isolated peaks such as Mont Blanc (15,781 feet), and the Matterhorn (14,836 feet), the mean elevation of the highest Alpine chain is from only 8,000 to 9,000 feet. Colorado possesses more than 120 peaks over 13,500 feet in altitude, of which no fewer than 35 peaks range from 14,000 feet upward. In the whole of Europe, there are not over 12 mountain peaks of note.

The highest village in Europe is Avers Platz in Switzerland (7,500 feet); the highest inhabited point in Europe is the Hospice of St. Bernard in Switzerland (8,200 feet). In Colorado the mining town of Leadville, with 15,000 inhabitants, is 10,200 feet above sea level; other mining camps are still higher and some gold and silver mines are worked at an altitude of over 12,000 feet.

The highest wagon road in Europe is said to be the Stelvio road in Switzerland (9,179 feet). In Colorado the railroads cross the crest of the continent at Fremont Pass (11,328 feet), Marshall Pass (10,852 feet) and Tennessee Pass (10,433). Switzerland does not possess, even in the famous St. Gothard line, any railroad engineering surpassing, if equaling, these. There are wagon roads over numerous passes in Colorado ranging from 12,000 feet upward, the highest being Mosquito Pass (13,700 feet).

In Switzerland the cog-railroad from Vitznau to the summit of the Rigi Kulm (5,990 feet) has a length of four and a half miles, in which the ascent is 4,672 feet. In Colorado the cog-railroad from Manitou to the summit of Pike's Peak (14,137 feet) has a length of eight and three-quarters miles, in which the ascent is 8,100 feet, or an average of 846 feet per mile, the maximum grade being 1,320 feet.

One class of Switzerland's finest scenery is along the Via Mala, the Schyn Pass and Ernerloch. In Colorado, the Canon of the Arkansas with the Royal Gorge, the Black Canon of the Gunnison, the Canon of the Rio de las Animas, the Canon of the Grand river, and others, are all much longer, quite as grand as and more varied in character than the best passes in Switzerland. The walls of the Canons of the Grand river, the Gunnison and the Arkansas rise to a sheer height of more than 2,000 feet.

As Colorado can be reached by at least one railroad—the Burlington—in one night from either Chicago or St. Louis, it is hard to understand why more Americans do not travel west instead of east in search of health and pleasure.

Peacemaker for the Railways.
Some years ago one of the biggest railroad corporations of this country employed a confidential peacemaker, with the idea of preventing suits, as far as possible, for personal damages. It has proved a profitable innovation and is being taken up by other railroads.

The Cowman's Ideal Girl.

My ideal young woman is a native. She is well-graded one, too, but not a thoroughbred—they take too much care and are not good rustlers when range is short. She is pretty enough to make some honest cowman lose his heart to her and made her queen of his herd, if she'll have him, but she isn't such a looker that every chuck-line riding cow-puncher in the country will want to hang around the old man's ranch till he's fired. She may not have been raised in the saddle, but she knows enough to tell a latigo strap from a branding iron, and is the kind of a girl that can get on a good bronco and hold the cut-out herd in a round-up when your extra cowboy goes back on you at the last minute. She's got all the book-learning she needs, but she doesn't go around talking dead languages while the biscuits burn, nor let the chickens scratch up a good garden while she makes experiments in botany. She knows how to talk and does a good deal of it, but you don't have to put a jerk-line on her to get in a spiel yourself sometimes. She doesn't get located at the sight of a cook stove and can give an old time camp cook tips on sour doughs. I don't take lariats and hobbles to keep her at home part of the time, and she don't get on the prod every time anything goes wrong on the ranch. She dresses as well as she can put up for, but she don't blow in every cent she can get hold of for jingle bobs and other fixings, and she don't spend two hours, when somebody is in a hurry to get started somewhere, doing her hair up to look like a water spaniel that's been through a cactus patch. In fact, she's all right, and we love her, and look up to her and lose our hearts to her and let her make any old kind of fools of us, and we put in our lives making money for her to spend and we're glad to do it. She is our own home grown girl, and we are proud of her and wouldn't exchange for any other on earth. She helps us enjoy life when we can and when the other kind of times come, she is the bravest and truest little partner on earth, and we reverence her more than ever. More than that, she's right here, and we don't have to go off our own range to find just the one we want. Every cowboy in the country knows just where to find one that tops the market in all these points—and may his claim never be contested! Yours for Western Girls.

"Mamma," said Johnny, "I don't believe this is a health food."

"Why not, son?"

"It tastes good."

"Tommy, what do you want to take to school for luncheon?"

"Oh ma, gim me B'lony sausage an' watermelon."

Watta—When a man gets down there are few hands extended to him.

Potts—Yes, few hands; but just think of the feet!

When a man steals a watch he never can tell where he will wind up with it.

Every man seen in a new hat will be under suspicion of being a Republican.

In Chicago David Ensen and Julia Jensen have been licensed to wed. There seems to be both rhyme and reason why they should.

The street car conductor looked meditatively, "That young woman," he said, "must be from the country." "Why so?" asked the Willing Inquirer. "Because she actually thanked the man who got up and gave her a seat and said 'please' to me when she wanted the car stopped."

Ships can now go to sea with frozen ammunition. A method of utilizing liquefied air on war ships has been discovered which will render the explosion of a magazine, even when the ship is in full action, almost impossible. The method is to so place the liquid air that it will freeze the ammunition to several hundred degrees below zero. In that condition it could not explode, even if a shell should burst in the magazine.
